

TRY A LITTLE SUNSHINE FROM ITALY!

THE REGION

Italy is no stranger to wine with some of the oldest wine producing regions of the world contributing to approximately 1/5 of the world's wine production. Grapes are grown in almost every region of the country with more than 1 million vineyards under cultivation. Italy's long shoreline helps to moderate the climate for the coastal wine regions. The extensive mountains and foothills throughout the country create varying elevations for grape growing in a variety of climate and soil conditions.

THE WINE

ITALIAN BARBERA / SANGIOVESE

Beautifully bright ruby red in colour with a bouquet of ripe blackberry, cherry and plum. On the palate you will experience flavours of ripe fruit and spice with fresh tannins and subtle oak on the finish.

Alcohol by Volume: 12.5%

AVAILABLE BY PRE-ORDER ONLY UNTIL THURSDAY, JULY 14, 2011.

In stores early August - Just in time to be made and enjoyed for the Holiday Season - contact your local Wine Kitz for exact dates.

THE FOOD

A nice complement to dishes in tomato sauces such as chicken or veal parmesan, meatballs, lasagna, pizza and spaghetti. Goes well with roast duck and plum sauce.
